Dowsett was appointed Trustee to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Mr. W. G. Irwin from the Board.

The Island Associations of the several islands have maintained their organizations and have met from time to time to consider matters of local interest. The meetings of these local associations have resulted in benefit, and it would seem desirable that more frequent meetings should be held.

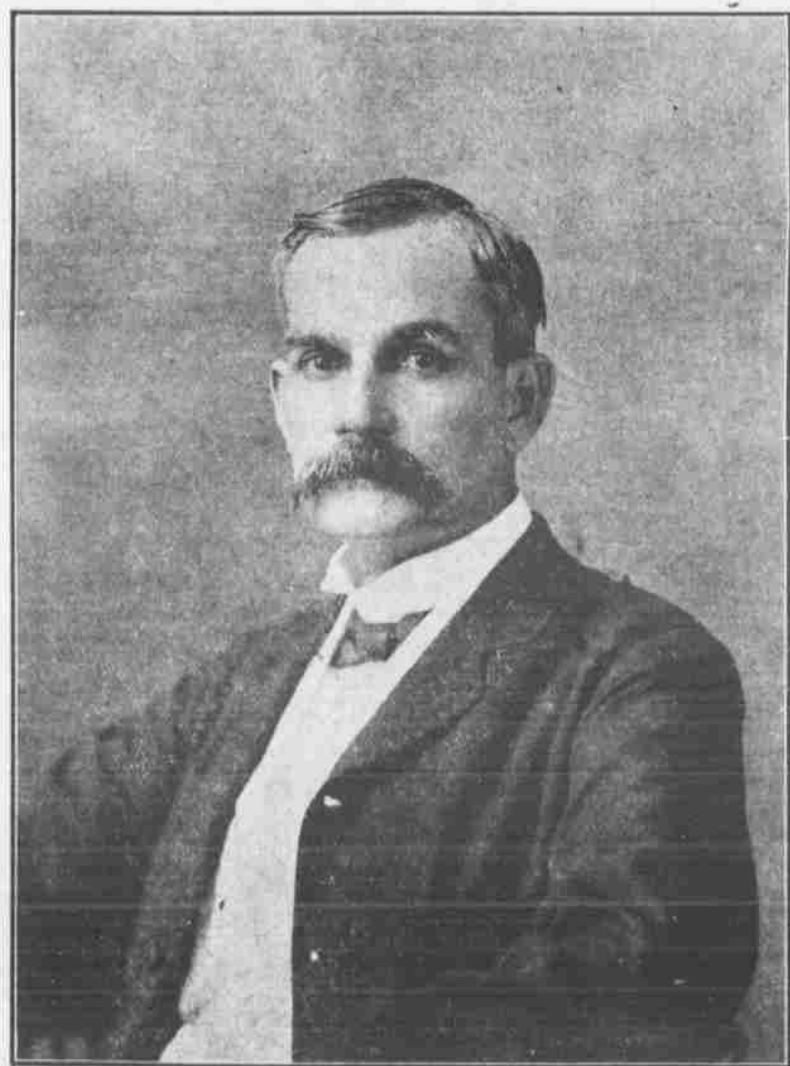

The crop reports for the past year and for the ten years from 1901 to 1910 inclusive are herewith presented. The crop of sugar for the twelve months from October 1, 1909, to September 30, 1910, was 518,127 tons.

A PIE A POLITICAL ISSUE

A pie—a good, old fashioned pumpkin pie—probably has made political history in Eastern Oklahoma this year. This pie may cost a seat in Congress, a thing not many pies have done. But this was an unusual pie. It grew first on a vine over in the hills of the Cherokee Nation. The pumpkin was made into a pie by a pretty Cherokee girl and it was a good pie, though never eaten. That's why it has made political history. If it had gone the way of other good pies there would have been no trouble. This is the story:

How The Pie Became an Issue.
Charles E. Creager, member of congress from the Third Oklahoma District, was campaigning in the Cherokee Nation. There was a pie social at the schoolhouse at Needmore.

There is only a schoolhouse and a postoffice there. But it is a representative country district in the Cherokee Nation. There are hundreds like it and in each a pie social is quite an event.

The girls make pies and put them in pretty boxes with other good things to eat. The boxes are auctioned off by an auctioneer and the man who purchases a box also draws the girl who filled it as a partner for the supper.

Bishop supported this plan, and it was approved.

Secretary W. O. Smith gave notice of and introduced an amendment to the by-laws of the association providing that in the temporary absence of a trustee, he may be represented by the person to whom he has given his proxy as a trustee de jure—the idea being to ensure a quorum of working trustees at each and every meeting.

The adoption of this amendment seemed to be urgent on account of the number of trustees absent, and it was accepted without argument.

The matter of filling the board of trustees for the purpose of electing officers and transacting other business came up and W. O. Smith suggested as a good way to accomplish the object that the persons holding proxies for absent members be elected full members temporarily in place of the absentees, they to retire upon the return of such absentees to the islands. On this basis the following were substituted: J. P. Cooke, for H. P. Baldwin; A. W. T. Bottomley, for S. M. Damon; J. W. Waldron, for F. A. Schaefer. J. M. Dowsett left no proxy at all.

The board of trustees complete is now as follows:

E. D. Tenney, W. Pfotenbauer, A. W. T. Bottomley, T. Clive Davies, J. W. Waldron, E. F. Bishop, J. M. Dowsett and W. O. Smith.

The reports to be submitted and discussed by the convention are as follows:

(a) Experiment Station, E. H. Wodehouse, chairman. (b) Labor Committee, E. F. Bishop, chairman. (c) Cultivation and Fertilization on Unirrigated Plantations, John A. Scott, chairman. (d) Cutting, Loading and General Plantation Transportation, A. Horner, chairman. (e) Manufacture of Sugar and Utilization of By-products, J. N. S. Williams, chairman. (f) Manufacturing Machinery, H. B. Penhallow, chairman. (g) Forestry, John Watt, chairman. (h) Burning before Cutting, H. Weinheimer, chairman. (i) Labor Saving devices, J. T. Moir, chairman.

On Wednesday the members of the Association will inspect the experiment stations and on the same day the conservation meeting in the capitol building will take place. This meeting will be a highly important feature of the convention and will be attended by the public generally.

On Thursday evening, beginning at 7 o'clock, the annual banquet will take place at the Young Hotel. Speech-making and some special stunts will be features.

Historical Facts.
The Hawaiian Sugar Planters Association had its beginning with a circular letter issued by various firms interested in sugar plantations, in February, 1882, urging concerted action in an effort to secure a renewal of the Reciprocity Treaty with the United States, which was then about to expire. The appeal met with instant approval, and a convention was held in Honolulu March 20, 1882, at which a corporation known as the Planters' Labor and Supply Company was organized, of which the first officers were as follows: S. T. Alexander, president; W. G. Irwin, vice president; J. H. Paty, treasurer; E. P. Adams, secretary, and J. C. Glade, auditor.

The directors were E. P. Adams, S. T. Alexander, J. C. Glade, A. S. Hartwell, W. G. Irwin, J. H. Paty and H. F. Glade.

The Planters' Labor & Supply Company was incorporated in 1885 and was succeeded by the Hawaiian Sugar Planters' Association of today.

This organization is run on pretty much the same lines as the old Planters' Labor & Supply Company, except that it no longer has contract labor problems to wrestle with, and devotes more of its time to scientific per which follows. Representative Creager went to the social. He bought a pie. The pie was made by Miss Ida Murray, Creager is anything but a gallant and he did not know the game. Instead of hunting up Miss Murray for his supper partner he quietly went outside the schoolhouse and dropped the pie, then returned the plate to its owner. That's why the pie is making history and why the trouble started.

The Cherokees A Proud People.

Throwing the pie away instead of eating it with his partner was considered an insult to the young lady. Auctioneer Burk resented Mr. Creager's action. The people around Needmore are more sensitive about little social formalities than in most country districts because they are Cherokees. And the Cherokees are a proud people. Mr. Burk denounced Mr. Creager. He went further. He went to the Republican county chairman, who had brought Mr. Creager to the social, and expressed his opinion of the erring congressman in such strong terms that a fight followed, and Doctor Collins, the chairman, fired a couple of shots at Burk, neither of which did any damage, except to advertise the pie. The pie then became an issue.

experimentations in cane growing and sugar production.

SCRIMMAGE ENDS IN A MURDER CHARGE.

WHEELING, West Virginia, November 14.—A tremendous sensation in athletic circles was caused here yesterday when a warrant against Thomas McCoy was sworn out, charging him with the murder of Rudolph Munk, captain of the University of West Virginia football team, who died as the result of injuries received in a recent game with the team of the Bethany College, of Bethany, West Virginia.

McCoy played right end for the Bethany team and was in the mixup from which Munk was taken, fatally injured. The umpire made a statement immediately after the affair in which he accused McCoy of deliberately striking Munk on the head during the course of the scrimmage.
